Without Microsoft there would be not be a hi-tech industry. The IBM like companies wants to see to big business like Banks Insurance companies and other Government sponosred contractors because the non-value added in these contract can Bankrupt the public. Microsoft is the heart and sole of the HOME Hi Tech market and has been the only serious investor in this market. I do not own one share of Microsoft stock but I have always recognized their leadership in promoting the sale of every high tech company s hardware. Through their evolution of the software the Hard Disk drive technology exceeded expectations the video card market now sell cards for more than some computers the 19 inch monitor sound card makers motherboard and memory chip makers all sell for less than 5-30% of their 1992 prices. ZEROX UNIX V OS2 Mac OS and many other Windows competitive operating systems can only blame their R&D investments and management. Let Micorsoft continue to help our country grow and spend more energy on ENRON Terrorist and many other subjects that are trying to destroy our way of life. Microsoft has made America proud and unless you believe that they are also hiring A. Anderson to do their accounting we should leave them along without enforcing any consent decree. This Eugene Crew wants to steal money from the the Microsoft company. California does not want computers for their students they want money that they will distribute. Sound familiar? Sounds like the energy crisis that they regulate!!! Well sorry that this comment arrived too late.
